"I was attacked with severe shooting pains across the back which used to grip me and make me feel very miserable. They were brought about by liver complaint. I took Cascara, and other medicines but got no permanent relief at all until a chemist recommended Chamberlain's Tablets to me. I found that they gave me relief at once and were especially beneficial to the liver. They acted so well in my case that I was completely cured after taking only a few boxes and am now enjoying good health."

J. W. WATKINS, Pelichet Bay, Dunedin, N.Z.

The Family Laxative Should be Safe.

Chamberlain's Tablets are safe and should be kept in every house.

Most ailments, from a slight headache to a severe attack of liver trouble or dyspepsia, are in a degree due to improper bowel action and can be quickly relieved and cured by cleansing the bowels.

The home laxative should be safe for all members of the family, from the kiddies to the grown-ups.

The average physic, such as salts and pills will move the bowels, but in doing so they often leave the patient weak. No one should ever take a physic which has that effect.

If such a medicine is continued a habit is created which will make it necessary for a physic to be taken before the bowels can be induced to perform their proper functions.

CHAMBERLAIN'S TABLETS FOR THE STOMACH AND LIVER

are a safe remedy for the home. They are a stomach tonic which give strength to the whole system and make the bowels act without further aid.

They are so easy to take that children like them and they never cause pain or griping.

My Bilious Headaches were cured by Chamberlain's Tablets!

"I am pleased to say that I have found Chamberlain's Tablets a wonderful remedy for biliousness, sick headache and pains in the kidneys. I suffered many a day and night from these complaints until one day I saw Chamberlain's Tablets advertised in the paper for the cure of biliousness and thought I would give them a trial. I am pleased to say that they gave such satisfaction that I feel a new woman since taking them. I cannot say too much about Chamberlain's Tablets. I have recommended them to others and they would not be without them now for any money."

THE CHURCHES.

CHURCHES OF CONSTANTINOPLE.

The approach of peace in the Near East may have led to the presence in the minds of many since the outbreak of the war, lest the bombardment of Constantinople should involve the destruction of the numerous interesting monuments of the Byzantine period which the city contains. The most interesting of these are, of course, the Quodam church of the Christian era, and the Hagia Sophia, which was converted into a Mohammedan mosque, but whose mosaics and general ornamentation, in many cases superb, have hitherto been spared from any wanton destruction. The Hagia Sophia is a Moslem fanaticism. Such buildings as the church of S. Sergius and Bacchus, to whose erection the Emperor had entire private property in the Church of the Holy Sepulchre, when the Nicene faith was re-established by a council 1500 years ago; or the church of St. John the older in Constantinople, and the only one which has remained practically unchanged from the days of Constantine himself, must always command the reverent admiration of the Christian world, while it is hoped that the great church of the Holy Wisdom, or Sancta Sophia, which the Emperor vowed to make the most beautiful in the world, and for the beautification the uttermost resources of the Empire were ransacked, may shortly emerge from the obscurity in which it has been buried since the destruction of the Sublime Porte, which has done additional good in its archaeological research, its results are amazed in the Imperial Museum.

It is here seen a writer of the "Christian World" that has assembled together the Siamese inscriptions and the inscriptions from the Temple at Jerusalem—perhaps the only object in Europe upon which one may say with any certainty that the eye of the Redeemer once rested. Here are statistics, the Good Shepherd of Constantine's day, and the oldest sculptured fragment in the East depicting the human Lord. Here are the incomparable sarcophagi from Sisian sculptures from Pergamus and Thysatira, and the oldest documents of the Euphrates civilization. Here are the remains of the relics of Old Testament Palestine, and the cylinder which Queen Victoria presented to the museum narrating Semeracher's siege of Jerusalem, when Hezekiah was shut up like a bird in a cage.

The Rev. W. P. Graham, of Chatswood, has accepted a unanimous call to the Congregational Church at Matadrack, and will begin his ministry there on March 1. The Rev. A. G. Morgan, of Woollahra, has arrived in Sydney.

Last Wednesday Mr. E. W. Wermouth, of the Camden Theological College, was ordained to the ministry at the Congregational Church, Vaucluse. Mr. Wermouth is the past elect of the church, and will begin his ministry in January.

Mr. Nelson, a student of the South Australian Congregational College, has accepted a call to the West Australian Congregational Church. He will be ordained in Port Adelaide Church, of which he is a member, and will enter upon his ministry at Matadrack in January.

On Thursday evening last a meeting of Congregationalists was held in the recently acquired church-hall at the corner of Oxford and Chapel streets, Sydney. The Rev. J. L. Evans, Home Mission superintendent, presided. It was decided formally to open the church-hall on Saturday, February 1, and to have a service of thanksgiving on the following Sunday.

The annual conference of the Australian Student Christian Union will be held in January next at Hobart and Raigora, N.Z., recently.

Professor G. W. Williams, of the University, will deliver a series of addresses at the Hobart conference on the following subjects:—(1) The Historic Christ; (2) Christ as God; (3) The Authority of the Scriptures.

Bible study at both conferences, also the study of methods of Christian work among the students of the various universities, and the students will also have the attention of the delegates.

In addition there will be discussions on the problems of world evangelisation both at home and abroad, and the total cost of the work of the conference is now £1000.

The basic principle of mission was not to give relief, except in special instances, from a philanthropic standpoint, but to reclaim with the story of the London City Mission was that of a lecture at the Sydney City Mission Hall on Thursday night, by the Rev. Martin Astley, one of the secretaries, who gave a vivid picture of London.

On Wednesday afternoon a sale of gifts in connection with the Balmoral Methodist Church, Condamine-street, Manly, was opened by Mr. G. F. H. Manning, chairman of the executive stalls and a Christmas tree, there were many interesting and amusing competitions, which assisted considerably to raise money for the extinction of the debt on the building.

There are large enrolments for the senior and junior Christmas camps of the Sydney Y.M.C.A. This year the camp is to be at Austinmer, and the latter at Wollongong.

Reports presented at the December meeting of the board of directors of the Sydney Y.M.C.A. showed intensive development in all departments, and the work of the Y.M.C.A. will be marked as one of activity and development.

The board of directors of the Sydney Y.M.C.A. is giving consideration to the enlargement of the equipment in the junior department, and the development within the association the building is crowded for space on busy nights.

The Sydney Y.M.C.A. hopes to inaugurate field service work during 1912.

THE SCIENTIFIC CURE FOR INDIGESTION

Fr. L. L. Lumsden, Barossa, Catherine-street, Berala, Sydney, N.S.W., 10 September, 1912.

"I was subject to indigestion for some time, but had no time to go to a doctor to come to grips, and used to take pills and other medicines occasionally, but they never seemed to do much good. Later on I began to feel a sharp cramping pain in the stomach. My eyesight became affected, my sight being blurred and speech appeared to go down before my eyes. One day I was unable to see, and had to go to bed. I was read to, and was induced to give Warner's Safe Cure. I was astonished at the almost immediate result. The pains became less frequent, more severe, and lasted longer. I began to lose my sleep at night, as the attacks became more frequent, more severe, and lasted longer. I could eat and sleep well, and digest my food perfectly. Since then I have been in perfect health, and gradually I have been able to eat two small meals a day, and to digest my food perfectly. I am now in perfect health, and the prices offered were so great to the 75 cent service that in several instances Mr. Gross offered to give the property on the spot.

the Greco-Turkish brass were the men who first turned westward in Australia, expanding as they went that westward north and south; and not least among these revelations of the wailing wonder of the unknown was the virgin heart of this continent, which with their life-quest. Content silent upon the peak in Durian, could not have gained a more splendid heritage nor have won a wiser human possibility. To the generalist belongs also much of the honour due to the development of that possibility. He has had his faults, no doubt, but done what he has done, and often in despite of tremendous odds. He never had his strength, and an untamed Australia needed savagery. He founded a great Australian type. He built up our only real world-industry. He is somewhat out of favour as a classical generalist. His areas of promotion are in question. He is more and more perplexed by a State which finds him and his cattle upon a thousand hills, in sheep upon ten thousand plains, a State as agricultural development. But, after all, he made, and he maintains, the wool industry; the very vastness of its operations are the safeguard of our wool quality; and necessary, and, indeed, though our agricultural development may be, we are Australia to-day largely by means of the pastoralist and his great Australian product.

Today's "Herald"—Sir Henry Lucy (page 2) speaks of the "splendid record" of Australia's revenue on Turkey, and the relation to Mr. Gladstone's campaigns of 22 years ago. He notices the publication of Queen Victoria's early diaries (also page 2) and the like. The Servian Government is "ready to grant any satisfaction Austria is entitled to" in connection with the Prisrend incident.

ALBANIAN ATROCITIES.

LONDON, Dec. 13.

The Belgrade correspondent of the "Daily Telegraph" states that a Servian officer who had been captured by the Albanians had been brought into the camp with his eyes gouged out, his nose and ears cut off, and other mutilations.

When the Empire was at war Canada was at war, but not necessarily in conflict.

The Admiralty could count at all times on the Canadian navy, because an agreement had been made early in 1911 whereby the naval area of the North Atlantic was placed under the Canadian fleet to defend. If these areas were invaded the Canadian fleet would be immediately available; and the same applied to the Pacific area.

He had welcomed the proposition to take the naval question out of the arena of party politics, but it was now too late to carry that proposition into effect, as the Conservatives insisted on making it a party question.

In the course of his speech, Sir Wilfrid Laurier argued that the last battle of the Empire was to secure this. When the Empire was at war Canada was at war, but not necessarily in conflict.

The unfortunate officer's mother went to the hospital to see him, and she was so appalled that she died.

At present, the correspondent adds, explains the action of some of the irregular Balkan soldiery towards the Albanians.

PEACE CONFERENCE.

LONDON, Dec. 13.

The Greek, Servian, and Montenegrin delegates to the forthcoming conference have arrived in London.

MARCONI CONTRACT.

EMPIRE WIRELESS CHAIN.

SIR GEORGE REID'S EVIDENCE.

LONDON, Dec. 13.

At the Select Committee inquiry into the Marconi contract for the erection of the Imperial wireless stations, Sir George Reid, High Commissioner for Australia, gave evidence that the Commonwealth had adopted its own wireless system, which was capable of communicating over a distance of 20,000 miles.

He said he did not possess any knowledge as to the reasons wherein his Government's attitude towards the Marconi Company had been based.

Australia, he added, led the way in the matter of the wireless chain, and was given to Sir Edward Grey, Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs, an undertaking to erect a station capable of working with the other stations of the Imperial chain.

He said that before the Australian Government approved of the Marconi system it had consulted the opinion of eminent authorities to the effect that it did not trench on the rights of the Commonwealth.

The "Daily News" states that Sir Wilfrid Laurier's plan avoids the grave objection to which Mr. Borden's is exposed—that it weakens if it does not destroy the remaining control of the British House of Commons over the foreign policy of the Empire.

BRITAIN AND GERMANY.

A DISTURBING COMPARISON.

LONDON, Dec. 13.

Although Mr. Winston Churchill refused in the House of Commons to reply to a question relative to the number of Germany's fully commissioned battleships, the "Evening News" states that Britain had 22 ships of the class to build Dreadnoughts in Canada. The Admiralty, however, would let contracts for naval vessels of smaller size to Canadian ship-builders.

CONTROL OF FOREIGN POLICY.

LONDON, Dec. 13.

The "Daily News" states that Sir Wilfrid Laurier's plan avoids the grave objection to which Mr. Borden's is exposed—that it weakens if it does not destroy the remaining control of the British House of Commons over the foreign policy of the Empire.

AN HISTORIC PICTURE.

TRIAL OF WILLIAMS.

MAIN WITNESS RECENTS.

LONDON, Dec. 13.

On October 9 last Parade-inspector Walls, shortly after proved victorious in the battle of Acre, was made First Consul of France.

This valuable picture was hanging in a second-hand shop at Balaclava, and Mr. Williams purloined it. The picture was found in the Mitchell Library for men who had not been to the coast, and the man who had it was dead, and then left, leaving a Trifly hat near the door.

"Trifly" was one of the vessels captured by the British fleet. Napoleon shortly after proved victorious in the battle of Acre, and was made First Consul of France.

This valuable picture was hanging in a second-hand shop at Balaclava, and Mr. Williams purloined it. The picture was found in the Mitchell Library for men who had not been to the coast, and the man who had it was dead, and then left, leaving a Trifly hat near the door.

Mr. Williams stated that he wanted to get rid of his wife, as he loved two others.

AN INDIAN CRIME.

MURDER OF MRS. CLARE.

THIS TRIAL AT AGRA.

AGRA, Dec. 13.

The trial of Clark, an officer in the Naval Department, of Allahabad, a widow and a maid-servant, Budhu, who was charged with the murder of Mrs. Clarke, was continued yesterday.

Mr. Williams stated that he wanted to get rid of his wife, as he loved two others.

TRADE UNION BILL.

POLITICAL FUNDS.

MEMBERS ALLOWED EXEMPTION.

LONDON, Dec. 13.

The House of Commons in committee adopted an amendment moved by Sir Rufus Isaacs, providing that where a member of the political parties mentioned might be compelled to contribute to the political fund, and obtain exemption from making such contributions.

The Opposition stigmatized the amendment as a breach of faith.

UNIONIST POLICY.

PREFERENTIAL TARIFF.

LONDON, Dec. 13.

Mr. Austin Chamberlain, in the course of a speech at Glasgow last night, stated that British trade during nine months of this year had increased by £4,000,000, compared with the corresponding period last year, but that the United States had increased by £10,000,000, and that of Germany by £10,000,000.

True, unemployment had been lessened, but many artisans had emigrated to work elsewhere.

Wages in England, he added, were not keeping pace with the cost of living.

The Unionists proposed duties of an average of 10 per cent. on British imports, and 20 per cent. on foreign imports.

The duty on other foodstuffs would not exceed 5 per cent., and there would be an abatement or exemption in favour of the colonies.

He declared that the food duties would not be increased unless the Unionists came from the people with a fresh mandate.

THE SEA LORDS.

ILL-HEALTH AND RETIREMENT.

LONDON, Dec. 13.

The "Evening News" states that Admiral Sir George St. Vincent has decided that ill-health causes his retirement.

Mr. Winston Churchill, First Lord of the Admiralty, in the House of Commons this evening repeated his statement that ill-health during the past year had been the cause of his retirement.

Mr. Sir George St. Vincent, who, when Mr. Bridgeman had a collision with another ship, was taken to hospital, has been recovering.

Mr. Bridgeman, as Chairman of the Commission, desired to appeal to the officials of the Sugar Company, who were not present.

The High Court, consisting of the Chancery, Vice-Chancery, and Admiralty Divisions, and Mr. Justice Higgins, some months ago heard an application by the Colonial Sugar Refining Company, on behalf of the Royal Commission on the sugar industry. The Court, after hearing argument, decided that the commissioners had been fully justified in holding a hearing, and that certain questions, which the commission proposed to put to officials of the Sugar Company, were not the representatives when that body does not represent all the persons who are entitled to vote.

All the contributing employees under the Sugar Refining Company, and not only those who are members of the Royal Commission, must be represented. The Royal Commission must be represented. The Labour Federation's proposal is unconstitutional.

PRIVY COUNCIL APPEALS.

LONDON, Dec. 13.

The Judicial Committee of the Privy Council, in the matter of Gordon and others versus the Colonial Sugar Company, has granted special leave to appeal.

The High Court, consisting of the Chancery, Vice-Chancery, and Admiralty Divisions, and Mr. Justice Higgins, some months ago heard an application by the Colonial Sugar Refining Company, on behalf of the Royal Commission on the sugar industry. The Court, after hearing argument, decided that the commissioners had been fully justified in holding a hearing, and that certain questions, which the commission proposed to put to officials of the Sugar Company, were not the representatives when that body does not represent all the persons who are entitled to vote.

THE SEA LORDS.

ILL-HEALTH AND RETIREMENT.

LONDON, Dec. 13.

The "Evening News" states that Admiral Sir George St. Vincent has decided that ill-health causes his retirement.

Mr. Winston Churchill, First Lord of the Admiralty, in the House of Commons this evening repeated his statement that ill-health during the past year had been the cause of his retirement.

Mr. Sir George St. Vincent, who, when Mr. Bridgeman had a collision with another ship, was taken to hospital, has been recovering.

Mr. Bridgeman, as Chairman of the Commission, desired to appeal to the officials of the Sugar Company, who were not present.

THE EMPIRE DEFENCE.

NAVAL PROBLEM.

THE BORDEN PROPOSAL.

SIR WILFRID LAURIER'S CRITICISM.

OTTAWA, Dec. 13.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier, speaking in the House of Commons, in making his first pronouncement on the Borden naval policy, said it was a Canadian and un-British.

He suggested instead that they should provide fully Canadian fleets for the Atlantic and Pacific coasts, with a super-Dreadnaught in the centre, and certain smaller ships which should be built and maintained entirely by Canada, and should be always ready to aid Great Britain.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier argued that the necessity for Great Britain to guard her coasts by the withdrawal of the overseas fleets made it an un-Canadian and un-British.

He build up our only real world-industry. He is somewhat out of favour as a classical generalist. His areas of promotion are in question. He is more and more perplexed by a State which finds him and his cattle upon a thousand hills, in sheep upon ten thousand plains, a State as agricultural development. But, after all, he made, and he maintains, the wool industry; the very vastness of its operations are the safeguard of our wool quality; and necessary, and, indeed, though our agricultural development may be, we are Australia to-day largely by means of the pastoralist and his great Australian product.

THE PRISREND INCIDENT.

VIENNA, Dec. 13.

The "Deutsche Presse Zeitung" reports that the Servian soldiers cruelly mutilated M. Prochaska, the Austrian Consul, at Prisrend.

BELOGRADE, Dec. 13.

The Servian Government is "ready to grant any satisfaction Austria is entitled to" in connection with the Prisrend incident.

ALBANIAN ATROCITIES.

LONDON, Dec. 13.

The Belgrade correspondent of the "Daily Telegraph" states that a Servian officer who had been captured by the Albanians had been brought into the camp with his eyes gouged out, his nose and ears cut off, and other mutilations.

When he was rescued by the Servians his clothes were saturated with petroleum and the Albanians were on the point of setting them alight.

The unfortunate officer's mother went to the hospital to see him, and she was so appalled that she died.

At present, the correspondent adds, explains the action of some of the irregular Balkan soldiery towards the Albanians.

PAPUA.

A YEAR'S PROGRESS.

INCREASED REVENUE.

DISCOVERY OF OIL WELLS.

MELBOURNE, Friday.

The Minister for External Affairs, Mr. Thomas, has received from the Lieutenant-Governor, Judge Murray, a voluminous report showing the progress of the Papuan Territory, and its most striking incidents within the past twelve months.

Each phase of the administration is dealt with in a separate chapter, and if he desires to learn the whole of the facts the Minister will direct him to set aside the greater part of the recess for the purpose.

Judge Murray states that the progress of the territory during the year has been satisfactory.

The revenue increased by £600,000, imports showed an advance in value of £20,000, and the exports were only £1800 below that for the previous 12 months, with a total value of only £49,000, and were sent away, as compared with £117,000 for 1911.

The Papuan population had increased but slightly during the year, and the Lieutenant-Governor is of opinion that it will never be very large.

The wonderful progress which has been made in all respects since Papuan under Commonwealth control has not reflected to the satisfaction of Judge Murray that the bill must be passed for the sake of the Commonwealth.

He states that the bill will be submitted to the Imperial Government in a conference with the various authorities upon which the bill treats.

Many of the clauses also involved very long correspondence with the Imperial Government, some of the original legislation coming into conflict with British legislation.

Whilst many of the difficulties have been overcome, and it is for this reason that the bill must be referred to the Imperial Government.

In addition a Commonwealth delegation visited London to take part in a conference with the Imperial authorities upon the various matters upon which the bill treats.

Many of the clauses also involved very long correspondence with the Imperial Government, some of the original legislation coming into conflict with British legislation.

The revenue increased by £600,000, imports showed an advance in value of £20,000, and the exports were only £1800 below that for the previous 12 months, with a total value of only £49,000, and were sent away, as compared with £117,000 for 1911.

The Papuan population had increased but slightly during the year, and the Lieutenant-Governor is of opinion that it will never be very large.

THE ONLY DIFFICULTY.

Really only one difficulty stands in the way of the development of Papuan, and that is the question of law.

The number of indentured boys is given as 7826, and it is expected that casual will bring the total up to about 10,000.

At present the number of miners is 147, and 145, about the same as 12 months ago.

Similarly with regard to copper, the output results have not been entirely satisfactory, but there is a general increase.

Similarly with regard to gold.

The coasting trade is not to be fully tested.

The Canterbury Park Race Club has reached a record attendance.
